

MADRON PARISH NEIGHBOURHOOD DEVELOPMENT PLAN

Corona virus Update

Issue 6 dated 17 April 2020

Now we are in social isolation, your NDP team has been thinking about how to put on a parish wide consultation as an online event. We have a draft plan that shows how far we have come with gathering evidence and creating plan objectives and policies but the document doesn't have much in the way of eye catching visuals. The conundrum is how to get folk to access, read, and comment on a draft plan that is itself not a "fun" read.

Our thoughts are that we could put the draft plan on the parish website (www.madron.org) and also put with it a short colourful Power Point presentation that gives the background and promotes the need for folk to read the plan and comment back to us.

Why we want you to read this presentation

Your neighbourhood planning team want to tell you how work on your plan has progressed, how the plan is looking, and, most importantly:

Then we will need to publicise this so that you all know it's there and we also need to give you the means to comment back to us so we are working on this. This could be by way of a survey questionnaire, both online and in paper form. Your feedback will be really important to us. With your help we hope to get the plan finished this summer. We then need to hold the plan in storage until Cornwall Council open up the NDP referendum system in May next year, when you get to vote on it.
